FIELD OF MANUFACTURE

What Montana Is Doing and What She Is Capable of Doing.

PLANS UNDER DISCUSSION

Livingston's Paper Mill Enterprise —Great Falls Has Hopes of a Glass Plant, a Tannery and a Carding Mill.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.

BILLINGS, Jan. 24.—The remarkable reserve force and elasticity of the race that but little more than a score of years ago cast down the barriers before the onslaught of possessive civilization in a mountain wilderness and laid within it the foundations of a splendid commercial and industrial fabric, could not be better proved than in the spirit shown by the Montana people in meeting and resisting ruin under a tidal wave of panic which wrought unfolding disaster upon older states and paralyzed the very nerve centers of finance and commerce in the proud money empires of the country.

The ramparts of one-half our mining resources overthrown, the sinews of capital and labor are already braced for widening the field of search for other metals, and notwithstanding adverse conditions which have seemed to seriously imperil the future of our agriculture, plans are on foot to broaden the area of tillage.

Further than this, new pathways in a hitherto almost untried field of activity are about to be ventured upon, and the restless forces which have been expended in the avenues now closed to our energies by acts of ruthless sectional legislation, find other material elements upon which to operate. This is to be through the channel of manufacturing, in the domain of which a rapidly increasing interest has been lately awakened in the state, and upon it some important outposts have already been erected.

Foremost of course in the sphere of mechanical production in our domestic field are the creative industries concomitant with and subsidiary to mining, such as belong to ore reduction and the manufacture of the various kinds of metallic bulldozers; but at Anaconda and Great Falls much will soon be done in the way of sheet copper and wire manufacturing.
Upon this will continue to grow a large and important system full of great future promise, and likely to engage the most virile of the forces of both labor and capital.

So far the uncertainties surrounding the lead product make speculations with regard to the part it is to take in our economy both idle and useless, but definite predictions can be more safely founded upon the baser elements, iron, asbestos, asphaltum, bismuth and gypsum, with all of which our mountains are richly charged.
Practical iron workers from Pennsylvania have examined our resources in the world's most useful metal and have prophesied that the day is near at hand when our vast deposits will be developed and practically utilized. A Minnesota company has been for some time considering the establishment of a factory near the asbestos fields of the West Gallatin, and the extension of the Burlington road through the asphaltum and gypsum districts of Southern Montana will lead to the early opening and practical improvement of the deposits.

The flour milling business is daily growing in the state and the last year has seen the erection or completion of modern mills at Great Falls, Columbia Falls, Ka-lispel, Bozeman and near Billings.
Another is soon to be erected at Big Timber. Everywhere the sale of our flour and other grain products is being energetically pushed by the local millers the result of which has been to largely drive the eastern makes out of our markets.

A spirit of fealty to home institutions has been a fortunate outgrowth of the panic, and has greatly stimulated local enterprise in this line.

At Great Falls a carding mill, glass-works and tannery are under earnest consideration one if not all of which will be undertaken at an early day.

The latest and most earnest movement in the new direction, and one which promises to see an early fruition is the paper mill project at Livingston at the head of which is Thomas Ash with a syndicate of local capitalists.

Mr. Ash has been for some time giving his attention to the scheme and has recently been in the East for the purpose of thoroughly investigating the matter of paper making. The main advantages offered by Livingston is its proximity to and easy accessibility to large forests of fir, the wood pulp produced from which now constitutes the chief raw material for paper manufacturing. The water power employed for the generation of the electricity used in lighting the city, in the ownership of which Mr. Ash is heavily concerned, will supply a cheap and sufficient motor supply.

It is estimated by Mr. Ash and his conferees that the home demand for the paper will be alone enough to keep a plant of moderate size in active operation and return a good margin of profit.

CLOSED RATHER HEAVY.

Another Quiet and Uneventful Day in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—It was a very quiet and uneventful day on the stock exchange.
St. Paul lost 1/4 per cent. as a result of the day's operations, owing to an unfavorable December statement. Sugar closed unchanged. Western Union sold 1/2 per cent. under yesterday's closing. The market closed heavy at or about the lowest figures of the day.

The Copper Market.

From the Engineering and Mining Journal, January 20.

This week has been practically a reproduction of last, differing from its predecessor only in the fact that rather lower prices have been accepted by holders of copper, and that we have now to quote the Lake Superior product as nominal at 10¢ 10¢; electrolytic as having been cut in price as customers have been able to secure wire bars at 9¢ and cathodes at from 9¢ to 9 1/2¢, while casting brands continue firm at 9 1/2¢ to 9 3/4¢ per pound. There has been no increase in the demand.

We greatly regret that the facts do not justify us in taking the more cheerful view of prices which some of our producers do; at the same time it is certain that certain producers frequently hold above the market, but it is what is sold or offered for sale that is the quotable price, not what those who don't wish to sell ask.

The market abroad opened rather weak and lower on Monday, declined still further on the afternoon of that day, but has since recovered a portion of the decline, although not reaching last week's closing figures, as, at the end of the business for the week, £11 1/2s. for spot and £12 2s. 6d. for three months prompts are the ruling figures: Other descriptions we quote as below: English tough, £11 1/2s. to £15; best selected, £15 to £16 1/2s.; strong sheets, £12 1/2s. to £13; India sheets, £10 1/2s. to £10 1/2s.; yellow metal, 4 1/2d. An increase in visible surplus of 320 tons is shown by the statistics for the first half of the month.

The following figures give the production in tons of 2,240 pounds of copper in the United States, and also by the chief foreign mines, and the exports from the United States for December and the year ending December 31:

	Dec.	Year.
Production, fine copper, long tons	10,338	129,800
Exports outside sources	1,012	12,720
United States	1,012	12,720
Reporting foreign mines	7,248	81,790
Total production, long tons	18,368	224,310
Exports from the United States	1,012	12,720 fine copper	8,293	80,387
